Compose your thoughts with "Thinking Cap" for automatic outlines and better writing.

Often the toughest thing about writing is organizing your ideas. But with the power of "Thinking Cap" for the Commodore-64 and -128 personal computers, composing your thoughts is easy. Whether you're a student or just a thinker, "Thinking Cap" automatically organizes your thoughts into papers, reports, proposals, plans or other documents that are clear, logical and to the point.

Put ideas in their place.

Even if you've never written an outline before, "Thinking Cap" makes it easy to put your ideas in order, because it formats perfect outlines automatically. Start by listing your main topics and don't worry about the details. Then add information wherever you please. "Thinking Cap" reorganizes your notes in a single keystroke. So it's simple to produce perfect outlines up to six pages long in as much depth as you need.

Tackle writer's block.

"Thinking Cap" tackles writer's block because it helps you get your mind moving. Built-in text editing makes it a short step from first outline to final draft. So when you're ready to polish your rough notes, "Thinking Cap" lets you turn out the finished document as well.
